Staff Member Uniform Guidelines

Welcome!

For new recruits to the park

Since Unfair opened its first theme park in 2016, our guests have treasured the elements that set Unfair parks apart: the full-featured rides, the most comfortable venues, the best quality shows – and the friendliest staff members.

A big part of that is your welcoming smile and warm, caring manner. Once you learn to fake that, you'll get along just fine.

Of course, following our strict dress code won't stop you from being dismissed at a moment's notice for some frivolous reason, but at least it won't be because you wore the wrong shoes.

Working in an Unfair park is never dull. In a normal day, you may be the subject of mind control, teleportation, time travel, dimensional reduction, freezing, cloning, alien symbiosis, and that time-honoured classic, rapid gastric decontamination.

It's also part of the job to make sure guests remain blissfully unaware of any behind-the-scenes corporate backstabbing or mayhem. We never break character, even if it kills us. And it might.

Regardless of the challenges of your particular role, taking pride in your appearance means you become a role model for those around you. It also means you will need to buy at least three complete changes of uniform, available at the company store.

The guidelines on the following pages have been developed to help you stay looking your best, even under the most Unfair of circumstances.

Good luck!

For artists depicting Unfair staff

These guidelines list the important details for each type of staff member, and show examples of how they should look.

The bullet points in the notes on each page describe the required items, so that we can keep the look of new staff members consistent with those already working in the park.

Admin staff who are not guest-facing require presentable office attire.

Guest-facing staff must follow the uniform guidelines for their role.

Park Attendants

Tools & Accessories

Some roles require a cash-handling apron or a token-dispenser belt.

Robotic employees may paint chassis elements in place of uniform items.

Your role may include an item of approved headwear.

Notes

The park attendant uniform consists of:

- White button-up shirt, in short or long sleeves according to preference and season. Long sleeves may be rolled neatly for a mid-length look.
- Official blue vest with white trim and pinstripes, always worn buttoned.
- Red tie or neck scarf, according to preference.
- Black knee-length skirt or full-length trousers, according to preference.
- Black shoes, flat slip-ons or closed-toe lace-ups, with black socks.
- Black belt with plain buckle.
- Supervisors add a black jacket.
- Official name badge, pinned on the upper left of the outer garment.

Outdoor Attendants

The loose-fitting outdoor uniform offers freedom of movement for any running, hiding, or cowering required.

Tools & Accessories

A satchel may be used to carry items to provide smaller animals with individual feeding and care.

Tools are supplied to allow you to safely handle the start and the end of the feeding process.

Maintenance & Support

Tools & Accessories

Keeping everything clean improves the overall attractiveness of the park. Gold star for you!

Emotional support bears are available when guests need a little help managing their excitement.

Notes

The maintenance uniform consists of:

- White short-sleeved undershirt. T-shirt collar when worn under a button-up shirt. Button collar when worn under overalls.
- Dark blue shirt, always worn buttoned.
- Dark blue full-length trousers.
- Outdoor roles may substitute dark blue overalls, according to preference.
- Black shoes, closed-toe lace-ups, with black socks.
- Black belt with plain buckle.
- ID badge, pinned on the upper half of the outer garment.

Park Security

Undercover security agents are required to blend in with guests.

The role of undercover security has one of the highest turnover rates in the park. The things they've seen...

Tools & Accessories

A practical tool for night patrol, a flashlight can also be dropped to mark your last known position when dragged off by a cursed mummy or swamp creature.

Security staff may use sunglasses to inspire the proper respect for their authority.

Always be ready to call for backup if the roving groups of youths get too jaded.

Notes

The park security uniform consists of:

- Light blue long-sleeve button-up shirt with dark blue epaulets and pocket flaps. Sleeves may not be rolled; security is a serious position.
- Dark blue tie.
- Silver tie clip.
- Dark blue full-length trousers.
- Black shoes, closed-toe lace-ups suitable for speedy pursuit if necessary, with black socks.
- Black belt with plain buckle.
- Guest-facing security wear their ID shield on their upper sleeves, for maximum appearance of authority. Undercover security carry their ID shield in a wallet.

Construction

On sites using robotic workers, chassis colour schemes must follow uniform guidelines to avoid alarming the guests.

Designers may visit the perimeter of the work site without a vest, but may not enter without one.

Tools & Accessories

Suitable equipment is provided on the work site, along with plenty of unsuitable equipment.

Safety eyewear is recommended.

Notes

The construction uniform consists of:

- Mandatory yellow safety helmet when on-site.
- Mandatory orange hi-vis vest with white reflective stripes when on-site.
- Blue long sleeve button-up shirt. Sleeves may be rolled.
- Optional white t-shirt or undershirt.
- Dark blue full-length trousers.
- Black steel-capped work boots.
- Black belt with plain buckle.
- ID badge may be worn on a lanyard, or clipped to the belt, or stored in a pocket, but must be presented to security on demand.

Park Defence

Park defence members take their duty very seriously, but rarely see action. They are only called upon when huge external threats... threaten to... threaten the park.

In the brightly coloured setting of a theme park, a blue camouflage pattern stands out exactly as much as everything else. Genius!

Tools & Accessories

Looking too closely at danger can lower morale, so park defence staff are professionally trained in not-looking.

Guests just need a little reassurance. They can rest easy knowing that our reassurances are rocket-fuelled and explosive-tipped.

Sometimes a giant monster attack is unavoidable, but defence staff have methods for distracting the beast toward a less vital target.

Notes

The park defence uniform consists of:

- Blue camouflage combat helmet.
- Red short-sleeved undershirt with t-shirt collar.
- Blue camouflage long-sleeved shirt.
- Blue camouflage full-length pants.
- Black gloves.
- Black boots.
- Black belt with plain buckle.
- Optional elbow, knee, and chest padding, depending on the role.

Temporal Services

Depending on the destination time-period, agents may wear a helmet designed to make the testimony of any eye-witnesses seem... unreliable.

"I swear, it was a giant cat!! And it appeared out of thin air!!!"

Are your guests irritable because noisy neighbours kept them up all night? No problem! Agents can tweak a guest's timestream to ensure a perfect theme park visit every time.

Agents maintain contact with their past and future selves, so that an agent of the appropriate age can be selected for each mission.

Tools & Accessories

There are many available styles of Credibility Reduction Helmet.

The stunner and short-range scanner are cleverly disguised as a fictional stunner and short-range scanner.

Mission-appropriate currency is supplied, from aureus to dollars to qbits. Keep your receipts!

Temporal services can retrieve a guest's lost phone, handbag, or child without causing a paradox, by collecting the item just after it was left behind, thereby changing only the reason the item was lost, not the fact.

Notes

The temporal services uniform, devised by Epsilon Research Laboratories, is the same for all staff:

- Blue one-piece temporal shielding suit, with grey utility pocket side panels.
- Light blue chest, elbow, and knee reinforcements.
- Built-in grey gloves, with integrated controls.
- Built-in grey boots.
- Temporal Services logo on both shoulders and at the base of the chest piece.

Staff members wear a blue leisure suit over their normal uniform.

Notes

---

Park staff: When leisure suits are in use, staff members wear the blue suit over their normal uniform, after removing any gloves or shoes.

Name tags must be transferred to the outer garment. Ensure you use the magnetic attachment option, not the pin!

Guests: The park provides a yellow leisure suit for guests to use, carefully cleaned, sterilised, and tested between visits for their protection and ours.

The sealed faceplate has the added benefit of reducing cleanup-related downtime on rides.
